Ofsted told us...

“Students learn well, think deeply and explore new ideas with curiosity and creativity when provided with the opportunities to do so.”

“Students are keen to attain high academic standards and they take pride on their work.”

“Leaders plan a diverse range of extra-curricular activities and clubs for pupils. They say that these aspects of the curriculum support their vision for pupils by widening their experience and heightening their expectations. As a result, the extra-curricular programme caters for and develops pupils’ wider academic, cultural, artistic and sporting interests.”
